STATE LOSES 2 CENT FIGHT

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS DECIDES AGAINST STATE.

St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 29.—The two-cent passenger rate in Oklahoma was declared confiscatory and held invalid by the United States circuit court of appeals for the Eighth circuit in a decision rendered here today.

The opinion declares that the provision of the Oklahoma constitution giving the state corporation commission power to fix rates conflicts with the constitution of the United States.

Nearly all of the large railroads, except the Rock Island and Frisco, filed a bill in equity in the United States circuit court at Enid early in 1908, asking an injunction against prominent shippers, against the enforcement of the 2-cent fare law and against certain freight rates attempted to be enforced in this state.

Judge W. C. Hook, a United States circuit judge, sat in the case and within a few months granted an injunction, permitting the railroads to charge three cents a mile, giving each passenger a rebate check, entitling him to a rebate of one cent a mile should the injunction be dissolved.

The legislature, by unanimous vote, republicans and democrats joining, voted a large appropriation in the special session of the Second legislature, authorizing the employment of special counsel to assist in the appeal of the case.

It is very likely that the case will be taken to the supreme court of the United States, although it can not be stated here today whether this can be prosecuted without an additional appropriation. A special session of the legislature, consequently, is among the possibilities growing out of this adverse decision.

After the Hook decision all the big roads filed suit and are now charging three cents a mile. The state corporation commission itself has exempted most of the smaller roads from operation of the 2-cent fare law.

OKLAHOMA'S WATER POWER.

University Professor Says Possibilities Not Being Developed.

Guthrie, Okla., March 30.—"The water power resources of Oklahoma are extensive, but at the present time practically undeveloped," says Prof. Charles N. Gould of the state university. "A number of swift-flowing streams, carrying constant volumes of water, cross the state. Power plants are now in operation at only three places, namely, Anadarko and Chickasha on the Washita, and at Tishomingo on the Pennington. Such rivers as Poteau, Kiamitia, Boggy, Blue, Grand Verdigris, Illinois, North Canadian and Little River, and creeks such as Rock, Honey and Mill, contain an ample supply of water to run scores, not to say hundreds of power plants capable of generating thousands of horsepower."

"Two rather ambitious projects are now being considered, one, located in South Central Oklahoma, contemplates the construction of ten or twelve plants at various points along the Washita River, between Lindsey and Berwyn. The combined power from these plants is to be carried to Oklahoma City, Shawnee, Ardmore and other towns in the central part of the state. A second project of nearly as great magnitude in the eastern part of the state contemplates the erection of a dam across the Grand River near Muskogee. It is estimated that the power generated from this point would be sufficient to supply light and power to a city of 200,000 people."

"Other projects have been surveyed at Keokuk Falls and Weleetka on the North Canadian at Carnegie, Fort Cobb, Cloud Chief, Lindsay, Pauls Valley and Dougherty on the Washita River; near Belton and Milburn on the Blue; at Tahlequah and Cookson on the Illinois and a number of other places. Suffice it to say that if the immense deposits of coal, oil and gas lying dormant in our hills are ever exhausted there is enough water power yet unutilized to supply all the factories, plants and mines that Oklahoma will need."

Putting Up Street Signs.

Mel Davis is at work today putting up the street signs recently ordered by the city council. They are of a durable quality and will last for many years. The numbering of the houses will be next in order and as soon as that is completed Ada will have removed just about the last barrier to free mail delivery.

Senator Bailey was also retained for the state during the administration of C. N. Haskell as governor, to appear before the United States supreme court in cases affecting Oklahoma's prohibition law. The state asked for writs of prohibition against the two federal district courts to prevent the granting of injunctions applied for by non-resident liquor dealers. Senator Bailey's compensation was not fixed, the understanding being that such amount as the legislature allowed would be acceptable to him.

All the attorneys in the case will leave for Washington not later than Friday.

FRISCO TO RUN BOOSTER TRAIN

WILL TOUR CENTRAL STATES AND ADVERTISE EASTERN OKLAHOMA.

The Frisco railroad is planning for one of the biggest boosting tours on record. About May 1 a special train will leave Muskogee and will make a circuit of 2,000 miles, embracing the best portion of the central states. The train will consist of three baggage cars filled with exhibits from the points in Oklahoma represented in the excursion, three tourist sleepers, two of which will also be used as diners. A band will also accompany the train.

The first night will be spent in St. Louis. The second day will embrace all the local places of 1,000 or more, the train stopping at each and giving the inhabitants an opportunity to pass through the train and inspect the exhibits. The second night will be spent in Evansville Ind. the third at Terra Haute, the fourth at Indianapolis. The next two nights and intervening day will be spent in Chicago. Then comes Des Moines, Omaha, St. Joseph, Leavenworth and Kansas City.

As the excursion will be well advertised at all places large or small at which the train will stop the train will be visited by thousands who are interested in Oklahoma and are anxious to get first hand information concerning the state and its resources.

Muskogee will send a delegation of twenty-five, Okmulgee will send ten and other places along the Frisco lines will also be well represented. This county can put in as fine an exhibit as any in the state and this will be a magnificent opportunity to advertise this section.

It will cost $100 for each representative accompanying the train starting from Muskogee.

C. G. JONES DIES AT OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, March 29.—C. G. Jones, one of the pioneers who blazed the Oklahoma trail and who, having here cast his lot, remained through sunshine and shadow to witness the unfolding of a wonder metropolis in a wonder state, has closed his life work.

Mr. Jones died suddenly at his residence, Eighth and Durland streets about 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Hemorrhage of the stomach is said to have been the direct cause of death. Three days ago Mr. Jones went home feeling indisposed and a doctor was called. It was believed that his illness was trivial and no alarm whatever existed.

Only a few hours before death came Mr. Jones said to his wife: "I have boated around the house long enough—I'm going down to my office this morning and get to work."

Mrs. Jones, however, prevailed upon her husband to remain home during the forenoon.

"You will be all the better this afternoon," she said, and Mr. Jones, always restive when confined to the house, reluctantly agreed, making it a part of the compromise that they should have an early luncheon so he might lose as little time as possible.

Called His Wife.

After that conversation Mrs. Jones busied herself about her household affairs while Mr. Jones sat in the library of his magnificent home and read the newspapers. No further special attention was given to him until shortly before 11:30 when Mrs. Jones heard her husband call: "Come here, please."

There was something about the call that sounded ominous to Mrs. Jones, and as she hurried to her husband's side she summoned her brother, James Wheeler, from another part of the house. The two reached him about the same time. He had removed from a chair and was stretched out upon a couch. One glance told the story of approaching death, for his face was livid, and a moment after Mrs. Jones reached him he raised upon his elbow, gasped for breath and simultaneously there came a gush of blood from his mouth.

Without saying a word he sank back upon his pillow—dead.

JACK JOHNSON IS IN JAIL

Must Serve Twenty-five Days on Charge of Speeding.

San Francisco, March 30.—Prize-fighter Jack Johnson is in jail today and unless some higher court comes to his relief on a technicality he will serve a 25-day sentence for automobile speeding. Johnson has been an oft-time offender of the speed laws, and after fourteen arrests from which he escaped with light fines or dismissal, he ran against Acting Police Judge Treadwell last Thursday. On that day he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding and on Saturday was given a jail sentence. He took an appeal to the superior court and yesterday afternoon Judge Morgan dismissed the appeal and ordered him into immediate custody. Ten minutes later two deputy sheriffs had him in charge, bound for the Branch county jail.

PERRY PLACE IS BURNED

FIRE CATCHES FROM DEFECTIVE FLUE AND DOES ITS WORK QUICKLY.

Last evening Ada was again visited by the fire fiend and in a very few minutes the Calvin Perry place on West 15th street, occupied by Mrs. Mary J. Parks, was only a pile of smoking ruins. Most of the furniture was saved and the loss on the house was partially covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered about eight o'clock. Mrs. Parks had built a fire in the kitchen stove preparatory to doing some ironing. The fire caught in the room from a defective flue and when discovered was too far gone to control. The fire company responded, but even if there had been a better water pressure than there was nothing could have been done to check the flames.

Green Bugs Menace Crops.

Oklahoma City, March 29.—Word received from C. E. Sanborne, state entomologist, today, is that the green bugs are spreading in the southeast and eastern parts of the state and that they have probably extended into Kansas and Texas. The oats and wheat around Tahlequah are said to have been injured already between 25 and 50 per cent. The cool, moist weather is conducive to the propagation of these insects and as long as such weather keeps up the danger will be increased. Mr. Sanborne does not think the injury at this time is so great as it was in 1907-08. Letters are being sent out from the office of the state board of agriculture advising farmers not to plow their ground, especially where the wheat and oats have been killed by the bugs until a later date. The information comes that in Mayes county the wheat and oats blades are turning yellow. A few chinch bugs are also reported but no serious damage for this source has been discovered yet.

MOREY STOCK CO. PRESENTS "ANITA"

Last evening the Morey Stock company presented "Anita, the Singing Girl," one of the strongest productions ever put on the Ada stage. From the beginning of the first act until the end of the last it was of absorbing interest. The vaudeville features between acts were also good and the audience was greatly pleased by the performance.

A REAL PERIL.

A silver-tongued orator at Chicago has discovered another peril; and sounded the tocsin at a gathering of highbrows the other evening.

The good looking damsel who of-ficiates as a country school teacher, according to this earnest reformer, is doing incalculable harm. The boys in her charge can't get down to arithmetic and grammar and such things with a pretty girl in evidence all the time. Statistics show that most of the boy pupils in a country school fall in love with the teacher if she is young and pretty, and they are forever planning elopements when they should be taking a fall out of the rule of three.

The presence of a pretty, well-dressed teacher has a demoralizing effect upon the boys in other ways.
Most of the pupils in the country schools are farmers' sons, and the farmers always are walking the floor, wondering how to keep the boys at home. The latter, having an attractive teacher before them all day, become ambitious to go to town where they can wear purple and fine linen, and thus be eligible as husbands.

This peril never occurred to the Gazette before, but it surely is the real thing, and drastic measures should be taken for the protection of our boys. No teacher should be engaged for country school service unless she demonstrates that her face will stop a clock. There is no sense in having pretty and attractive young teachers when it would be possible to find enough homely old spins to run the educational department.—Emporia Gazette.

Benjamin Disraeli.

Benjamin Disraeli, although a man of much letters and a British statesman of much note, during a considerable period of the past century, yet, in spite of his various duties of state and literature, he found an abundance of time to mingle in all the gaities of the fashionable world.
Hundreds of amusing stories are still related about this nineteenth century Beau Brummell, who became the first Earl of Beaconsfield, about his exaggerated dress, his manners and his amplified style of conversation.

One lady declared that she had seen him at a party in green velvet trousers and a black satin shirt.
He was said to have delighted in shocking the respectability of decor-ous celebrities by the most startling moral paradoxes, and in fact, to have done everything that good taste should have prompted him not to do.

Disraeli was so far nettled by some of this gossip many years afterward that he wrote to the editor of an evening paper to declare that he never possessed a pair of green trousers in his life.

He is described by his biographer at this period as "a thin, pale, dark-complexioned young man, with long black ringlets" and the wearer of dandified costumes."

Disraeli was born in 1804, and he was only 22 years of age, when his famous book of "Vivian Gray" made its appearance. This story became at once famous; that it assisted him well in his desire for notoriety at this time. It may be possible that many of his eccentricities at this time were not due to a knowledge of what was and wasn't in refined taste, but instead that they were feigned in order to bring the attention of the public more in his direction for personal reasons. If that was his idea it succeeded well.

When he was finally elected to Parliament and made his maiden speech, it was so much in the grand style and was delivered with so many extravagant gestures that it excited ridicule. Much disconcerted, Disraeli sopped abruptly making, however, the prophetic remark: "I shall sit down now, but the time is coming when you will hear me."

It is commonly believed that when Disraeli undertook to describe Sid-onia in his novel, "Coningsby," he looked in the glass, and simply made his own portraiture when he wrote:
"He was admired by women, idolized by artists, received in all circles with great distinction and appreciated by the very few to whom he at all opened himself."

In private life, Disraeli is said to have been kind and constant in his friendship, liberal in his charities and prompt to recognize and assist struggling merit wherever his attention was directed to it. In general society he was not a great talker, and few of his criticisms have been preserved which were not uttered on some public occasion.

Later in life, after he had become Prime Minister, he laid aside many of his foolish ideas in regard to dress, but he always continued to wear clothes of a peculiar cut, a neckerchief of some gaudy color, and a hat of an unusually queer shape for the period, which made him an object that never failed to attract the notice of the public, unaware of the importance of the great British statesman.

That he was a great man that scaled the heights of fortune and won the battle of life against odds which seemed to be irresistible, and who at the gloomiest moments of his career never lost heart or hope, can no longer be a matter of controversy. A combination of genius, patience, intrepidity and strength of will, such as occurs only at intervals of centuries, could alone have enabled him to succeed, and that combination is greatness. Of the means by which he rose to power, and the extent to which he was favored by chance, different opinions will probably long be entertained, but as far as we can judge at present, his errors seem rather to have sprung from a reliance upon false analogies than from any deliberate design to make a tool of party, or rise by the profession of principles which he was prepared at any moment to abandon.

SUMMER SHORT COURSE OF A. & M. COLLEGE

The A. & M. College and State Board of Agriculture are planning to bring the summer short courses in agriculture and domestic science to the very doors of the people by conducting one in each of the five supreme judicial districts of the state. The course will be given in the county of the district that on May 1 has the largest paid-up membership in the county institute and woman's auxiliary, judged according to the population of the county as shown by the last federal census.
The matter is now up to Pontotoc county to secure one of these.

What the School Will Do.

The College will take two car loads of material, for use in the school. This will include Pure Bred Horses, Cattle and Sheep, Charts, Dairy Implements, Utensils for modern Kitchen, and much other scientific and interesting material. The School will be organized into classes in such subjects as: Soils, Farm crops, Orchards, Dairying, Injurious Insects, Live Stock, Corn and Stock Judging, Cooking, Artistic Home Decoration, Sanitation, and Social Observances. In certain instances separate classes will be formed for Men, Women, Boys and Girls. Time will be given for discussions and questions in the various classes.
There will be regular schedule of classes, and each person will be permitted to select such work as he desires. A large tent will be erected for demonstrations in Stock and Corn Judging, Vaccination for Hog Cholera and Black Leg, Spraying, and other similar work. Other classes, including Cooking Demonstrations, will be given in rooms convenient for the purpose. The faculty from the A. & M. College at Stillwater will be actively assisted by members of the District Agricultural Schools located at Warner, Broken Arrow, Tishomingo, Lawton, Helena and Goodwell.

POLICE CAPTURE

MORE LIQUOR

For some days past suspicion has pointed to the stable on 12th street west of the Byrd hotel as being the headquarters of bootlegging operations, and this morning the police force made a raid, capturing twelve bottles and thirteen half pints.
Investigation made during the day is said to have developed the fact that three cases of goods had been delivered at the stable yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. Evidently business had been good ever since. The boxes were billed to Jack Johnson, but this afternoon Joe Landers was arrested on suspicion of being the real owner. He and another man by the name of Smith will be tried Tuesday morning.

NEW YORK CAPITAL

RUINED BY FIRE

Albany, N. Y., March 29.—Five million dollars probably could repair the damage done by fire in the state capitol today, but money cannot restore the historical records which were the pride of its state. After examining the exterior walls with a transit State Architect Ware said the building was as plumb and true as ever.

The flames licked up the state library, the court of claims, the assembly library and document rooms, most of the offices of the excise department and the quarters of the senate finance committee, and water and smoke took up the work that the flames laid down and the damage from this cause extends to every part of the building.

The fire was still burning tonight in the ruins beneath what was once the beautiful painted ceiling of the state library reading room, and the water kept pouring in from seven lines of hose. Water still dripped through the ceilings in nearly all parts of the west wing and the work of repair had already begun. A hundred national guardsmen stood guard in the deserted corridors tonight and fifty policemen patrolled the streets outside to protect the dismantled end of the building.

Next to the financial loss the chief effect of the fire will be delay in the machinery of state government.
Although the senate chamber stands practically untouched and a few thousand dollars can restore the meeting place of the lower house, a week, or longer, may intervene before the legislative business can proceed in its accustomed channels.

Both houses met today in the city hall across a park from the capitol building, the senate in the common council chamber and the assembly in the county courtroom, where the joint session also was held, and the same arrangement will be followed tomorrow.

First Degree Manslaughter Conviction

XXTH CENTURY CLUB CONTRACTS LYCEUM COURSE

With commendable enterprise the ladies of the Twentieth Century club have undertaken to manage a lyceum course to be given this winter. The opening number will be given in October and five others will follow at suitable intervals. The normal has assured the ladies of its co-operation and it is the opinion of the News that the ladies should have the solid backing of the town. This is said to be the best course ever secured for Ada and every number will be first class in every particular. It is the idea of the ladies to give a course that will appeal to young and old, and they have signed for one that they think will exactly fill the bill.

Fire Damage at Carnegie.

Carnegie, Okla., March 29.—Fire destroyed four business houses in Carnegie, entailing a loss of twenty-five thousand dollars, at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning.

It is supposed to have started in the Waddle pool hall. Before help could arrive the fire had spread to all the frame buildings adjoining. Practically nothing was saved, the flames spreading so rapidly that the fire fighters could barely get to the building before the roofs fell. All efforts were turned toward saving the adjoining brick and stone buildings.

Those sustaining loss were N. Brown, furniture and undertaking; S. E. Sands, grocery and meat market; Waddle pool hall, and Dr. Burke dentist.

Three Tariff Schedules.

Washington, March 29.—It is learned definitely tonight that the committee on Ways and Means will report out three tariff bills: First, a bill on the woolen schedule; secondly, a bill on the cotton schedule; and thirdly, a bill providing for the reduction of the tariff on numerous articles of food and other necessities of life. Chairman Underwood expects to have the wool schedule ready for presentation to the house within two weeks. As has been the custom heretofore, the woolen goods manufacturers and the wool growers will have lobbies in Washington to work against a reduction of the tariff on the raw and the manufactured products, but members of the committee still insist that with the complete hearings of the Payne committee before them, covering eight large volumes, will be ample to guide them without throwing the question open to further hearings.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

year we felt seriously the need of a foot ball team to assist in advertising the school. As we had had no athletic organization, we were compelled to incur an indebtedness to provide the necessary equipment for the team. The Athletic Committee, of the faculty, gave a note at the bank for the purchase of this equipment, and this note is still unpaid. The success of our base ball team depends, in a large measure, upon the results of this effort to liquidate this debt.

Just now we are in need of every means of advertising the school, and in the entertainment, which we offer you next week, we feel that you will get value received, and at the same time assist us in an effort to bring the school before the public in a legitimate way, and we earnestly hope and confidently expect, that you will give us a liberal patronage. CHAS. W. BRILES.

DOES NOT WANT TO RETURN TO TULSA

Los Angeles, Calif., March 29.—D. F. Andrae, former cashier of the Farmers National bank of Tulsa, Ok., was arrested at Glendale Wednesday by United States Marshal Youngworth, on a warrant charging the falsification of reports to the comptroller of currency.

The institution with which Andrae was connected failed about a year ago, and he was called upon to make certain statements to the federal officials regarding the conditions. It is alleged that he reported that Eugene F. Blaise, the president, owed nothing to the bank.

The warrant is based on reports of the government agents to the effect that Blaise was indebted to the extent of $3,500. Youngworth received the warrant Tuesday. Wednesday he located Andrae at Glendale and took him into custody. The defendant was arraigned before United States Commissioner Vandyke and was released under $2,500 bond.

Chickasha Pastor Resigns.
